Proclamation Was Issued By

Russia According to Today's Reports.

NO FURTHER FIGHTING NOW.

Reports About What Japs Want.
New York, Aug. 1.—Nasujire Ishikawa, accompanying Kekura, the Japanese peace envoy, said the very smallest sum his people would consider as an indemnity was $750,000,000, that some demanded $2,500,000,000 and that he himself would be satisfied with $1,500,000,000.

Pains in one foot, however, prevent his walking freely, but no cause for uneasiness exists. The admiral has expressed his sincere satisfaction at the treatment accorded him.

A KENTUCKIAN
Commits Suicide in California Over Ill Health.

San Diego Cal., Aug. 1.—Jacob W. Mount, a former prosperous merchant of Williamstown, Ky., committed suicide on account of ill health. He had come to California for his health, and recently had been suffering from an attack of indigestion. He was feeling very bad and excused himself from going to church with his wife. On her return she found a note pinned on the door written by her husband and telling her not to enter the house until she got a neighbor to accompany her. She hurried to a neighbor's house and then entered the door, to find her husband's body reclining in a steamer chair. He had shot himself in the abdomen with a revolver, the ball ranging upward and seemingly causing instant death. It was found that he had gone through his papers before committing suicide, drawing checks payable to his wife, and making other arrangements to place his property in her name.

The Turkeys as Well as Other Things.

MORE INQUIRY Is to Be Made Into the Departments at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 1.—In connection of the agricultural department it is hinted that the bureau of animal industries will soon be scrutinized to ascertain the truth of a published statement that a scientist employed there has grown wealthy through stock he holds in a company which manufactures a peculiar kind of label used by the department.

FOUND FLOATER

BODY OF A NEGRO CAUGHT NEAR MILL YARD IN MECHANESBURG.

Nothing by Which He Might Be Identified—No Marks of Violence
On the Body.

James Venters, an employee of the Paducah Veneer and Lumber company, in Mechanicsburg, went down to the river bank today shortly before noon to start his pumps, when the body of a man came floating by.

He caught it and towed it to the bank, and found that it was that of a negro about 40 years old, and badly decomposed. The man wore a jump and overalls, and had on no shoes. There were no marks of violence on him, and he appeared to be a rouster.

Coroner Crow was called and went up and examined a jury, but there was nothing to show who the man was or where he came from. He was probably drowned off some steamboat.

The verdict was of accidental death. The body was buried in the country graveyard this afternoon.

THE SITUATION NOT SO BAD AT PRESENT

Yellow Fever Cases Seem to Have Fallen Off Some.

Loss to New Orleans in Business Has Been Enormous—Over
$2,000,000.

THREE DEATHS YESTERDAY

New Orleans, Aug. 1.—A decrease in the number of deaths and new cases of yellow fever is announced for the past twenty-four hours, but the terrific heat of last night may run the list up again today.

New cases are reported today at Morgan City.

The quarantine panic continues in Mississippi and Ulca has wired that mails must be fumigated or they will not be received.

Arkansas has also quarantined against New Orleans.

Baton Rouge, the capital of Louisiana, has ordered out a company of military to guard all roads leading to the city.

The work of cleaning up New Orleans is progressing nicely, and people are more hopeful.

By the end of the present week the authorities in charge of the fever situation, will, they believe, be in such thorough touch with conditions that they will be able to speak with authority as to their ability to control and eradicate the disease in advance of the coming of frost.

Daily the system of inspection and report is becoming more perfect and by that time not only will it be possible to tell precisely the extent of the fever, but the period will have arrived when no more new cases, traceable to the original infection may be expected.

There was no accurate census of the population of what is known as the Italian district at the time of the fever outbreak and in spite of the most painstaking efforts it is still impossible to locate anyone who escaped from that zone when the result of the antipical investigation became known.

Ever since then Italians have been slipping out of the district after nightfall, but the number of escapes is becoming fewer and with increased vigilance in the course of the next day or two exodus will have been completely suppressed.

Many people are still leaving the city, but a great bulk of the city's population is still here.

Three deaths occurred in the emergency hospital yesterday, the number of patients in which has been largely increased.

President Southerland received advices that the cases at Morgan City have been pronounced yellow fever.

The state board of health is now in communication with every health board in the state and has directed immediate telegraph information of discovery of even suspicious cases.

No other cases in Louisiana has been reported in the last two or three days.

The number of new cases reported up to 6 p. m. yesterday was 21.

The total number of cases up to date, 302.

The total number of deaths up to 6 p. m. yesterday, 5.

The total number of deaths to yesterday, 62.

Of the five deaths reported above, three occurred in the emergency hospital, and all five bore Italian names.

Arkansas Quarantines.

Little Rock, Ark. Aug. 1.—The Arkansas state board of health last night declared a quarantine against all places where yellow fever exists.

No Italians Shot.

Lumberton, Miss., Aug. 1.—There is no truth in the story telegraphed from here that several Italians were shot in an attempt to escape quarantine restrictions.

Passengers Released.

Quarantine, N. Y., Aug. 1.—All the passengers on the steamer Proteus, which arrived yesterday from New Orleans who were detained for inspection, were released this morning, and sent to the city.

New Orleans' Enormous Loss.

New Orleans, Aug. 1.—The financial loss to this city due to the yellow fever quarantine can hardly be

WANT TO PREVENT DRAINING POND

The Owners Are Enjoined From Emptying Blizzard Pond.

They Had Dug Trenches to Convert the Pond into an 800-Acre Farm.

THE DATE OF TRIAL NOT SET.

W. L. and R. A. Bower and W. M. Milliken, farmers, who own most of Blizzard Pond in the Florence Station neighborhood, were last night enjoined from draining the pond, and from indications the matter will create a great deal of interest in legal circles, as well as among the farmers generally.

The three mentioned gentlemen bought in the pond and originally intended to drain it and convert it into a farm. The soil is said to be rich and with the moisture would make cultivation a paying business. They started out several days ago trenching and had dug a ditch of considerable depth with the view of draining the pond, about 800 acres in all.

George Jones, a farmer who resides on a farm adjoining the lake, became acquainted with their intentions and knowing the water would drain onto his farm and ruin him, brought suit. The papers were served last night on the defendants temporarily restraining them, but no date has been set for the trial. Judge Reed being out of the city.

The suit was filed in McCracken circuit court late yesterday afternoon.

ELK MISSING.

W. Va. Man Who Attended Buffalo Convention Mysteriously Disappeared.

Roanoke, Va., Aug. 1.—A special to the Roanoke Times from Fincastle, Va., says: Eustis V. Kale, who was chief clerk in the Kanawha Banking and Trust company of Charleston, W. Va., who was spending a vacation with his family at Fincastle, left there July 9 to attend the Elks' convention at Buffalo and was to return to Fincastle. He has not been heard from since and his family have no trace of him. Foul play is suspected. The Buffalo authorities have been communicated with.

A CONFERENCE

Being Held in Regard to Agricultural Department.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 1.—Attorney General Moody is in consultation with President Roosevelt today. They are undoubtedly considering the condition of affairs in the agricultural department.

Spens is Promoted.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Conrad E. Spens, assistant general freight agent of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad in Chicago, has been appointed general freight agent on the "Q" lines west of the Missouri river. Mr. Spens will take charge at once and expects to make Omaha his headquarters. He is probably the youngest general freight agent of a big railroad system in this country. Mr. Spens is not quite 30 years of age.

estimated. All kinds of business is paralyzed and the street car company has been obliged to take off a hundred cars to reduce expenses. It is estimated the losses are already from two to four million dollars.

A SPLIT Results in the Zionist Congress In Switzerland.

Basel, Aug. 1.—There is a split between the Territorial Zionists and the Zionists over the rejection by the Zionists congress of the British offer of territory for colonization purposes in east Africa. The complete territory of Zionists who left the congress and founded a separate organization is to be called the National Jewish Territory League.

THE NEXT MOVE

WRIT OF PROHIBITION MAY BE TAKEN BY THE CITY'S AT-TORNEY.

They May Ask Court of Appeals to Enjoin the Circuit Court
Here.

The decision of Circuit Judge W. M. Reed temporarily restraining the board of aldermen of Paducah from further proceedings against City Jailor Tom Evitts, does not necessarily stop the case where it is.

Attorneys for the city claim that they can now take out a writ of prohibition, in the court of appeals at Frankfort, Ky., and have the circuit court here restrained from interfering with the aldermen in the discharge of what they believe to be their duty in the case.

This being the appellate court's recess, the temporary restraining order would be good until the court meets in the fall, and would have the opposite effect to that of the present order, and enable the board of aldermen to proceed.

It was stated today that the attorneys have not decided what they will do, but the probability is they will take out the restraining order in the court of appeals in a few days.

HIS CHILD ILL

DYER COUNTY, TENN., MAN AT-TEMPTED SUICIDE.

He Will Recover But His Daughter
Died Two Hours After the Attempt.

Dyersburg, Tenn., Aug. 1.—Dennis F. Sawyer, a well known citizen of the county, took morphine on the streets of Dyersburg, with suicidal intent. He purchased the deadly drug at the store of the Taylor Drug company and walked to the office of a lawyer friend, who has his business in charge, and told his friend that he had called by to tell him good bye and to see him for the last time. His attorney at first paid no attention to his remarks but as he repeated them, saying that he would not be on hand as a witness in a certain case at the next court, the lawyer watched him a little closer after he left the office.

Sawyer proceeded but a few steps from the office when he was seen to take something from his pockets and swallow it. His legal friend then stepped into the drug store near by and upon inquiry was informed that Sawyer a short time before had purchased nine grains of morphine.

Drs. Watson and Ferguson were called by the attorney to proceed to the house of Mr. Sawyer and watch his symptoms. Sawyer lives on Depot street and had hardly reached home before the drug began to take effect. He had just begun to doze off when the doctors applied the stomach pump and emptied his stomach of its contents and restored him. He had taken the nine grains of morphine.

Sawyer gave to his attorney as his reason for attempting suicide that he had a daughter lying at the point of death and as the doctors had informed him that she could not live till night, he was so distressed about it that he did not care to live. The daughter died about two hours after her father attempted suicide. Careful watch will be kept to see that Sawyer has no opportunity to repeat his effort to kill himself.

To Meet Once a Month.

The Commercial club will hereafter meet once a month, the entire membership to gather. The next meeting will be the 15th of August.

THE INFANTS TOOK ANOTHER GAME

Won Yesterday Through a Close Decision.

Paducah Still Leads As Cairo Defeated Vincennes in a 13-Inning Contest.

AND TODAY IS LADIES' DAY

Club Standing.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Paducah	6	4	.600
Vincennes	5	5	.500
Cairo	5	5	.500
Princeton	4	6	.400

Yesterday's Results.

Princeton 3, Paducah 2.
Cairo 3, Vincennes 2 (13 innings.)

Where They Play Today.

Princeton at Paducah.
Vincennes at Cairo.

The Princeton baseball team, an aggregation of nine pennant aspirants, with the assistance of Umpire Harry Kubitz, a pitcher late of the Henderson team, defeated the Indians in a close nine inning contest at Wallace park yesterday afternoon. The fans in Paducah do not kick at the "umps" as in other cities, but when Gilligan slid into home plate in the 8th inning and Kubitz called him out, the howl that arose from the grand stand was awful.

The Raylets scored three runs in the third inning after the Indians had tallied once in the second. The Indians handicapped by Long Bill Frakes being out of form, never let the ginger wane but kept up good fast ball. In the eighth inning Frakes led off with a single and Gilligan followed with a single. McClain went out to Meyers and Bohannon hit a fly to right field. McGill went after it and so did Meyers, but each thinking the other was going to take it, let the ball drop. Frakes scored and Gilligan came tearing around the bases. He slid in home just as the ball was shot at Downing. Gilligan made the famous body slide letting his feet follow the line and throwing his body around. It was a close play and Kubitz made a Chimney Fadden gesture of "safe" and the fans roared.

The Indians were retired after this without any additional runs. The summary follows:

Thirteen Innings at Cairo.
Cairo, Ill., Aug. 1.—It took thirteen innings to decide yesterday's game between Cairo and Vincennes. There was some heavy hitting by the locals, but Perdue kept the hits well scattered until the fatal thirteenth, when Cairo got a man across the plate and won the game. The summary:

Vincennes	R	H	E
Vincennes	2	4	4
Cairo	3	12	4

Batteries—Perdue and Matteson; Bittroff and Lemon.

Bell is playing good ball for the Raylets.

Meyers is the heavy hitter of the Princeton team.

Platt is "itching" to get at the Raylets again.

Vincennes will follow Princeton, arriving in Paducah Thursday.

Today is ladies' day and South will push the pill for the Indians.

Yesterday was a day of Texas leaguers. The Indians popped them up just out of reach of the outfield and a little too far back for the infield.

Downing, the big catcher for the Princeton bunch, is running Land a close second for backstop honors in the league. He certainly has a wing and whips them down like lightning.

Buck Freeman beat Wheeling Saturday, allowing but one hit. Wheeling was shut out 2 to 0. Long and Morris, formerly in the Kitty, batted in Evansville's two runs.

The Indians did not seem able to place the balls yesterday where they wanted to. The Raylets are settling down and trying to repay the Indians for the mortification of four straight defeats on their home grounds.

Carnes and Downing, South and Land, will be today's batteries. These are the twirlers who went eighteen innings at Princeton the game resulting in a victory for Paducah by a score of 4 to 0. Platt and Land, Rossell and Downing will be tomorrow's battery.

There is no use in getting "bad" over the umpire's decisions. He does the best he can. If that play yesterday that Paducah fans think was wrong and lost Paducah the game, had been made by Paducah, and it had been a Princeton man sliding for home, every fan would have called the decision correct. They all know they would, so why kick?

Bonno Leaves Vincennes.
"Count" Gus Bonno, who pitched both of the games won by Cairo, asked for his release Saturday evening and got it, and he will return to his home in Cincinnati and play no more ball this season. Gus has been playing in hard luck ever since he joined the local team and for some reason or other has lost the majority of his games.—Vincennes Commercial.

Amateur Notes.
Bob Hays, who is playing with the Hickman, Ky., independent ball team, passed through Paducah this morning en route to Little Cypress to attend the bedside of his wife and baby, who are seriously ill.

EVANS GIVEN UP.

His Bondsman, Harry Anderson, Declines Not to Remain His Security.

Harry Anderson, the colored hackman, this morning gave up Charles Evans, colored, a driver who had he was bondsman, and who is now held over to the grand jury under the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses.

Evans was sent to the New Richmond hotel with a drunken youth and given a dollar, 25 cents to be retained as cab fare and 75 cents to be given the hotel clerk for lodging for the young man.

Evans failed to turn the money over to the clerk and left the drunken youth out on the pavement. It was discovered that he had not complied with his contract. He claimed the man got out of the hack.

He was held over in police court and Anderson went his bond, but today decided he would give Evans up. The latter will now have to get a new bondsman or go to jail.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH

Of a School Teacher at Phoenix, Arizona.

Phoenix, Arizona, Aug. 1.—Great mystery surrounds the suicide of Professor S. O. Lewis, principal of Lemp public schools, which was discovered today, but which probably occurred last week.

Lewis' mother lives in Illinois. He was unmarried and was highly respected, and had been employed as principal for the next school year.

The school had been closed for several weeks, and today painters went to the school house to work. A frightful odor caused an investigation, when the body was found much decomposed. Lewis had shot himself through the head.

FROSTY MORGAN ESCAPES.

The Caulker Who Assaulted Ways Foreman Got Away.

Julian (Frosty) Morgan, a trusty at the city jail, escaped last night and has left the city, it is said, having a balance of 82 days to serve.

Morgan and George Garvey, two caulkers, were fined $100 and costs each for assaulting Foreman A. McCarty, of the marine ways and his nephew, Alex McCarty, Jr. They were unable to pay and were locked up, later they were made trustees and worked about the hall.

Last night Morgan went out on the street and gave the police the slip. He is supposed to have gone to the depot, boarded a train and left town.

After making a strenuous effort to marry the man of her choice a woman is apt to be badly disappointed if she succeeds.

MUST WORK THE ROADS.

Dr. J. H. Ramsey, of Huntingdon, to Be Humiliated.

Huntingdon, Tenn., Aug. 1.—Through a decision of Attorney General Wade and Circuit Judge John R. Bond, Dr. J. H. Ramsey, a prominent physician of this city, will be compelled to go out with a number of prisoners and work on the public roads. Dr. Ramsey is confined in the county jail here serving a sentence of six months for performing an abortion about a year ago on a young girl of Hollow Rock. Recently the county court passed a law making a workhouse out of the county jail. There are about ten negro prisoners in jail and since the passage of the law the negroes have been repairing bridges, etc. The question as to whether Dr. Ramsey is liable to do work for the county has agitated the public mind for several weeks, and the circuit judge and attorney general were written to for opinions in the matter. They answered that Dr. Ramsey was just as liable as any other prisoner in the jail. The doctor was to have been taken out to work Friday, but has been ill for two days. He has stated that he would not work but the jail officials say that he will be taken out, and the result is being awaited with much interest. The sympathy of the public is largely with Dr. Ramsey in his humiliating position.

LOST TWO FINGERS.

Andrew State Had Them Cut Off in a Putty Machine.

Andrew State, white, an employee of the Rex Manufacturing Co., of Mechanicsburg, got his right hand caught in a putty machine this morning and two fingers were amputated.

The young man was taken to the office of Drs. Carl Sears and J. S. Troutman, where the injury was dressed.

Machinists Will Not Quit.

The report that machinists at the I. C. shops threaten to quit because of the cut in working hours, is without foundation according to some of the machinists. Every year when a cut in working hours is made, transient machinists, those who come and remain as long as the hours are kept up and work is plentiful, are the only ones who quit, and they go elsewhere because they can work longer hours. The majority of machinists in the Paducah shops are men who live in Paducah and intend to remain here.

College Committee Meets.

The committee of the Commercial club, who are looking after the location of the college here meet in the offices of Attorneys Wheeler Hughes and Berry this afternoon to decide upon a location to offer the college authorities.

STRANGE ADVICE!

Dr. G. G. Green gives alert personal attention to his great humanitarian contract.

In our Almanac for many years past we have given unusual advice to those afflicted with coughs, colds, throat or lung troubles or consumption. We have told them if they did not receive any special benefit after the use of one 75-cent size bottle of German Syrup, to consult their doctor. We did not ask them or urge them to use a large number of bottles, as is the case in the advertising of many other remedies. Our confidence in German Syrup makes it possible for us to give such advice. We know by the experience of over 35 years that one 75-cent bottle of German Syrup will work wonders. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.

For Speaker of the Next House of the Kentucky Legislature.

Henry Lawrence, member of the House of Representatives from Tripp county, wants to be speaker of the next House. He is one of the most popular young democrats in Western Kentucky, and has a strong following. He is assured of the undivided support of the members from the western part of the state in his race and seems confident of election.

Mr. Lawrence is editor of a newspaper published at Cadiz, and is not without opposition in his race for speaker. Thomas Brewster, of Louisville, is an avowed candidate, and with the assistance of the machine expects to land the plum. Representative Richard W. Miller, of Richmond, is also a candidate and has a strong backing. At present it looks like one of the three will be elected. Each of them has been renominated from his district.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN
CANNOT TRY EVITTS

Legislature Failed to Specify Cause for Which an Official May Be Removed.

Judge W. M. Reed's opinion in the T. J. Evitts case, as predicted yesterday, sustains the contention of City Jailor Evitts' attorneys, and he granted a temporary writ of prohibition against the board of aldermen, which prevents their trying the impeachment charges against the official. This holds good until the regular term of court in October, when the granting of a permanent injunction will come up.

Judge Reed's decision is: McCracken Circuit Court—Thomas Evitts, plaintiff, vs. D. A. Yelzer, Mayor, etc., defendants—Opinion of the court:

In this case I am called on to determine whether the board of aldermen of the city of Paducah have power or jurisdiction as such to remove the plaintiff, Evitts, from the office of father of said city. This is purely a legal question and involves, first, the question as to whether the McCracken circuit court, or the judge thereof in vacation, has power to award a writ of prohibition against the board of aldermen to prevent its trying and removing the plaintiff from said office; and second, whether the facts stated by Evitts, in his petition, authorize the issue of said writ.

The court of appeals of Kentucky, and the courts generally, so far as I am advised, have held that a board of aldermen of a city, acting in the capacity of a quasi judicial tribunal, or exercising limited judicial powers without jurisdiction, or when about to exceed its jurisdiction, that the courts have a right to interfere by writ of prohibition and prevent the exercise of such attempted jurisdiction—or, in other words, to prevent the exercise, by an inferior tribunal or official, of judicial power which he, or it, is not legally vested, and to prevent action in excess of the jurisdiction conferred by law, but not to regulate or control the manner in which a lawful jurisdiction shall be exercised. Hence, if in this case, the board of aldermen have jurisdiction to hear the charges against Evitts, and remove him from office, then the McCracken circuit court, or the judge thereof, has no right or jurisdiction to interfere in the matter, and as the law appears to be written the action of said board would be final and conclusive, as no appeal seems to be allowed from the action of said board in trying and removing the plaintiff. So the real question, and to my mind, a very difficult one, is: Do the charges made against the plaintiff, and for which said board seeks to try him amount in law to legal cause for removal from office?

Under the constitution of Kentucky, section 160, the part applicable to this case reads as follows: "The general assembly shall prescribe the qualifications of all officers of towns and cities, the manner in, and the cause for which, they may be removed from office." The legislature was given power to prescribe the manner in, and the cause for which a city official may be removed from office, but notwithstanding such power is given to the legislature, so far, it has only enacted the following provision on that subject, to wit: "The executive, judicial and ministerial officers of a city, unless otherwise herein provided, shall be removable from office by the board of aldermen sitting as a court under oath or affirmation, upon charges preferred by the mayor or any two members of the board of councilmen * * * no person so tried shall be removed from office without the concurrence of two-thirds of the aldermen-elect and when a person has been removed from office, he shall be ineligible thereto during the time for which he has been elected." From which it will be seen the legislature did provide for the manner of removing from office a city official, but wholly failed to name or mention any cause, whatever, for which such official might be removed.

If left to my own way of thinking I might be inclined to construe this statute to mean that the board of aldermen could remove Evitts from his office for any reason, it might deem sufficient, or which, in its judgment and discretion, might render him unfit to further discharge the duties of his office; for, according to the letter of said section the board seems to be all powerful, and may remove, for any cause it, in its discretion, may deem sufficient. But the court of appeals of Kentucky, in the cases of Todd, mayor of the city of Louisville, vs. Dunlap, etc., 99th Kentucky, page 451, and in the case of Gibbs against the board of aldermen of the city of Louisville, construing a section of the charter of a city of the first class almost, if not quite, in the identical language of the section in second class cities which I am called on to construe, held that since the legislature had failed to designate any causes for which a city official might be removed, that the common law must prevail, and that the common law supplied the defect or failure of the legislature to designate causes for which a city official could be removed, and that the board of aldermen of said city had jurisdiction only to remove for common law causes, to wit: for misfeasance, or malfeasance in office, or that character of charges that render the officer UNFIT FOR THE POSITION, or, as was said in the case of Gibbs vs. the board of aldermen, above referred to, "FOR SUCH CAUSES AS UNFIT HIM FOR THE PLACE."

The language quoted above is very broad and comprehensive, and I should be inclined to hold that it is broad enough to mean any cause which the board of aldermen thought sufficient to unfit the official for his place, or position; but the court of appeals has all along the line restricted causes for removal to the abuse or misuse of the duties of the office and the causes for which an official can be removed from office, MUST BE ACTS OF THE OFFICIAL IN RELATION TO THE CONDUCT OF HIS OFFICE, and not to acts that may be merely personal to himself, or affecting his private life, or his character as a citizen.

In the case of the commonwealth vs. Barry, decided in 1808, in the early stages of the law in Kentucky, it was held by the court of appeals in construing a provision of our then constitution, which provided for the removal of circuit clerks by the court of appeals for a "breach of good behavior," that said language could only be applied to, and must be restricted to misconduct in office, and the court in that case used the following significant language: "To determine that this court could for every misconduct in private life, committed by a clerk, remove him from office, would be putting every clerk in the arbitrary power of the court, and might be exercised to the worst purposes."

In a much later case of the commonwealth vs. Williams, decided by the court of appeals, and reported in 79th Kentucky, construing an act of the legislature to the effect that drunkenness of certain named officials, including county judges while in the discharge of their official duties, should be deemed misfeasance in office, and fixing a penalty for a violation of the statute at removal from office, the court held said act to be unconstitutional and not enforceable, for the reason that the legislature could not make an act on the part of an official misfeasance in office which, under the constitution, was not misfeasance in office, and in that case the court of appeals approved the case of the commonwealth vs. Barry, and the later case of the commonwealth vs. Chambers, and quoted from the latter case, with approval, the following language: "It was proper to separate the character of man from the character of the office and that it (meaning the court of appeals) had no power to remove a clerk for crimes committed by him so long as he discharged the duties of his office." And in the Williams case the court says, "no complaint is made that the appellee (Williams) did not faithfully, honestly and earnestly discharge the duties of his office," and further quoting from the same opinion, "There was, therefore, no misconduct as an officer on his part, however reprehensible his conduct as an individual may have been."

Our present constitution, section 227, which I understood to be practically declaratory of the common law on the subject of removal from office, provides, in substance, that county jailers, county judges, and a number of other county officials, "should be subject to indictment or prosecution for malfeasance, or misfeasance in office, or willful neglect in the discharge of official duties" in such mode as may be prescribed by law, and upon conviction, the office shall become vacant. This provision of the constitution is in line and in accord with the common law, and the decisions of our court of appeals on the subject of removal from office, but it has no bearing or force on the questions here involved, further than it may throw light on the question as to what is malfeasance or misfeasance, or misconduct in office, for, as before stated the legislature now has full power to prescribe any reason it may deem proper for the removal of a city official. The term "misfeasance" has been well defined to be "the improper doing of an act which a person might lawfully do," and malfeasance, "the doing of an act which a person ought not to do at all," and nonfeasance, "the omission of an act that a person ought to do" so that misfeasance in office would be the improper doing of an act connected with his office, or in the discharge of the duties of his office which the official might lawfully do, and malfeasance in office would mean the doing of an act, as an official, which the official ought not to do at all.

It is contended by the counsel for defendant board of aldermen that the jailer of a city of the second class can be removed from office to which the people have elected him on a charge of any kind preferred by the mayor or two members of the board of aldermen such as drunkenness, or any violation of the law, or for any vicious or immoral conduct engaged in by him, notwithstanding he may have, and is constantly and faithfully discharging all the duties of his office and without reference to whether the acts complained of in any way pertain to or relate to the discharge of the duties of his office. After as careful a consideration of the law in this case as I am capable of making, I have been unable to reach such a conclusion, but my opinion is that the board of aldermen of the city of Paducah have no power or jurisdiction to try or remove from office the plaintiff for the alleged violations of law, and the alleged misconduct of the plaintiff complained of in the charges made against him, which, to my mind, have no connection whatever with the management or discharge of his duties as jailer.

The people may and perhaps do, often elect a man to office that they subsequently wish they had not done. A man's conduct or his habits may be, or may become, such as to render him odious to the people electing him; or, as a citizen, he may violate the law, but I know of no power to remove him for these reasons, so long as he faithfully discharges the duties of his office and, from that standpoint is faithful to the trust they may have confided to him.

The charges preferred against the plaintiff in this case, if true, are of a very serious nature, and the conduct alleged against him, if true, is very reprehensible, but, in my opinion, they are charges that affect him as a citizen and not in his official capacity, and that he, like any other citizen of the commonwealth, is amenable to the law for any violations thereof, and may be tried and punished therefor, as any other citizen of the commonwealth, but he must be guilty of some official misconduct, or something that affects his office, or the discharge of the duties of his office, before he can be removed, and entertaining these views, a temporary writ of prohibition is awarded in this case.

Judge McCracken Circuit Court.

FLOUR TO BE CHEAPER.

In Kentucky This Fall, From Indications.

From the present outlook millers are confident that the price of flour will not be far from normal during the fall and winter, and in Kentucky the price is apt to be slightly reduced on account of the abundant crop now being threshed in the state. Although the rains have done considerable damage in many portions of the state, other sections have produced an extraordinary crop, and local millers expect more wheat this year than has been placed on the market in any of the last three seasons.

Rains in parts of the state, notably the Bluegrass section and the central counties, have been too frequent, but the greatest loss has resulted from poor handling of shocked and stacked wheat after the rains had fallen. Many of the farmers failed to scatter such grain, and the heat, coupled with the moisture, damaged the product. So much of the crop was well handled, however, that the millers expect plenty of dry wheat for the fall run and claim they will be at a little advantage over Tennessee millers, who will have little good local grain to grind.

NASHVILLE MEETING IN AUGUST

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 1.—Organized for the purpose of regulating the terms of sale used by harness and saddle manufacturers and more definitely aligning the southern manufacturers with the National Association of Saddle Manufacturers, the Southern Association of Wholesale Saddlery and Harness Manufacturers was formed at Atlanta, Ga., and Owen Gathright, of Louisville, was elected president of the new organization. The newly formed association is composed of nearly every important harness and saddle manufacturing company in the south, and practically all firms have expressed a desire to become members. Louisville, Paducah and Maysville firms have already become members, and Kentucky promises to be one of the most important factors in the new body.

Organization of the Southern Association was effected under the advice of Mr. Gathright, who is vice president for Kentucky, of the National Harness and Saddlemakers' Association. The southern dealers have heretofore had no organization, and only a few of the firms were members of the National Association. For this reason terms of sale were not regulated, and have caused much difficulty and embarrassment to both buyer and seller. In hope of securing some kind of an organization, Mr. Gathright suggested that a meeting be held in Atlanta, and his suggestion resulted in more than twenty delegates gathering in the city and assisting in forming the new body.

Under the laws of the new association, the terms of sale in operation in the National Association are adopted. These terms allow sixty days for settlement, but in the fall it is permissible to date bills two months in advance. This is to give the buyers sufficient time to make payments in a slack season, and the advance dating cannot be made after September 1.

Louisville, Paducah, Maysville, Nashville and Memphis, Tenn.; Baltimore, Md. and Atlanta and Macon, Ga., were all represented at the meeting, and the outlook for additional members to the association is flattering.

Mr. Gathright, the president; J. Bloch, of Macon, Ga., and John M. Gray, of Nashville, vice-president and secretary and treasurer respectively, make up the executive committee. President Gathright will call meeting of this committee for Nashville some time in August, when further matters concerning the association will be taken up.

THEN CHANGE THE LAW.

If Judge Reed's decision in the Evitts case is law, every city, county and district in the state is without any protection in the matter of having good, reputable, honest men in office; that is, without any protection except that of the ballot, which in many cases comes too late, thanks to the uncertainty of human nature.

If the legislatures of Kentucky have failed to provide a means of removing a man from office if he is morally unfit, they have certainly overlooked a very important point. We have no reference to the case in point. We do not presume to pass on the guilt or innocence of the city jailer, or on his fitness to hold office. Neither do we presume to question the correctness of Judge Reed's decision in this case. But it is obvious to anyone that if it is really the law, there is no longer any moral qualification for public officials. Any official from the mayor down may be a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde with impunity. He may sink to the lowest depths of degradation as a private citizen and still be as immaculate as ever as a public official, provided he discharges the duties required of him.

This may be good law, but it is bad morals. It is calculated to remove whatever vestige of restraint may have held inoperative or immoral officials in check.

The law as construed means by implication, or perhaps it is by oversight, that the state of Kentucky has devised a means of removing public officials, but has defined nothing for which an official may be removed, except failure to discharge the duties of office.

If it is the law, we repeat, the Kentucky legislature should lose no time in seeing that it is made more definite and comprehensive.

The people of Kentucky, nor of any part of Kentucky, want their town, county, or district officers to think that they can conduct themselves as they please as men, without danger of molestation as officials so long as they discharge their duties as officials. The principle is inconsistent with the spirit and intent of our law and can do nothing but work incalculable harm in any state, county or town where it is applied as law.

The people of Kentucky seem to be getting tired of graft rule. In a number of counties and cities where the democratic machines have held full sway, the better class of democrats are now fusing with republicans and others who desire honest administration. Christian county has a fusion ticket, Logan county is getting ready to put out one and Livingston county democrats are threatening to bolt and fuse with the republicans. It would be very bad indeed if with all the strenuous opposition to graft in all forms now being manifested high and low, Kentucky should escape the purging process.

The democrats seem to be going to make the town cow an issue in their primary in Paducah. Judging from what we know of the democratic party, the men in favor of allowing the cows to run the streets will be nominated.

Paducah needs that college and if indications count she will get it. Our prospects seem very good. Other cities are working hard, but they will find that Paducah has not been asleep.

The reports for July from various city departments show a steady growth in Paducah, especially in building. We are growing and growing rapidly.

Mrs. Nation may pass through Paducah tonight or tomorrow, but no one cares so long as she keeps going.

TWELVE SCHOOLS

ARE NOW IN SESSION IN M<sup>C</sup> CRACKEN—8 MORE NEXT WEEK.

Preparations Being Made to Move the School in District No. 25.

There are now about 12 schools going in the county, the latest being the Oak Grove and Lang schools, which started yesterday. Next Monday about eight more schools will start and by September 1, all schools will be in session in the county.

Preparations are being made to remove the county school house in district No. 25 and within the next two weeks the house will be removed from its present location to Clark's river.

This is the district where a fight was waged for many weeks between the trustees and county school superintendent, Prof. A. M. Ragsdale. Trustees Powers, Downing and Derrington disagreed with Supt. Ragsdale and for weeks the matter was kept up until settled by the higher authorities.

An amicable agreement was finally reached and the trustees were permitted to remove the building, a compromise in site being made.

The trustees will shortly meet and decide on a teacher and when to start the school.

Division Fence Causes Some Trouble Between Two West End Families.

Joe McClure, colored, was arraigned in police court today for beating Lucy Pickett a black negress of twice the defendant's weight and size.

The girl's mother, Rhoda Allen, swore out the warrant on information furnished by Amanda McGhee. The evidence developed the fact that the two were "just playing." Judge Sanders observed that it seemed strange to him that such fights should turn out to be playing, but he could do nothing under the circumstances but dismiss the case, which he did.

Rosa Skelton, colored, last night got too full of "hops" and wanted to go to a dance. She claimed Arch Wade had her trunk and on his refusal to let her have it, she went in to forcibly take out a shirtwaist to wear to a dance. She swore so loudly that the neighbors complained to the police. The woman managed to get away before officers arrived, but they found her later in her own room without a stitch of clothing on, defying the officers to take her. The woman remembered very little about the affair only admitting she might have used a little rough language to wards Wade. The court fined her $20 and costs.

William McClelland, colored, who broke into the servant quarters at the Rehkopf and Baker residences on North Fifth street and also in the residence of Frances Long, colored, and is alleged to have stolen money, a pistol and valuables, waived examination and was held over. He is the youth who tried to escape last week by running, and it is thought had been thieving for some time.

J. W. Sullivan, colored, who is charged with selling two stoves which did not belong to him, waived examination and was held over on his recognizance.

Other cases were: James Bulger, white, breach of the peace, continued until Saturday H. C. Blacknall, white, breach of the peace, continued; Frank Potts, white, drunk, $1 and costs.

A. Cross, R. H. McGuire, Mrs. R. H. McGuire and children, Milton and Elsie McGuire, white, were charged with a breach of the peace, and the case was continued until Saturday. They are charged with engaging in unbecoming conduct towards each other, the result of a dispute over a dividing fence between their residences on West Harrison streets.

FINE WORK

OF FIRE DEPARTMENTS PREVENTED A DISASTROUS FIRE.

J. C. De Mert Dye Works Damaged—Dr. Sydney Smith Loses Furniture.

The J. C. De Mert Dye Works at 109 South Third street were damaged by a fire that originated in the rear of the establishment about 7:30 o'clock this morning soon after the house was opened. It is not known how the blaze originated, as some one heard a report as if something exploded and some didn't, but when discovered by Mr. De Mert he threw several blankets on it, but could not put it out.

The fire departments, Nos. 1, 3 and 4, were on hand a short time after the alarm was sent in, and in a remarkably short time had the flames under control.

The fire originated in what was formerly a back yard. A shed had been erected over it for a roof, and the boiler, and gasoline, were in that part of the building. There was a fire in the boiler, but it was not near the gasoline cans, and Mr. De Mert says the gasoline cans were all empty, he always laying in a new supply the first of the month. There was some clothing on hand there to be cleaned, and a spark may have caught some of this.

Over the Globe Bank, which runs back to the rear of the dye house, Dr. Sydney Smith has his dental parlors. He left last night for a visit to Tennessee and left Dr. Carl Puryear in charge of his office. The fire the first thing this morning entered the side windows, and the water almost ruined Dr. Smith's fine chair and nearly everything else he had in the room. There was slight damage done in the rear of the barber shop nearby and in another place or two, but the total damage was very light, Dr. Smith having by far the heaviest loss. His damage is estimated at somewhere near $600, covered by insurance.

Mr. De Mert's loss is only $50 or $75, or thereabout. Scarcely anything was burned at his place, and in a few hours he had things ready to run again.

The work of the fire departments was commended on all sides. The fire was hard to get at, and was very hot and very quick, seeming to penetrate every window and door of four or five buildings in the rear. It might have been a disastrous blaze had not Chief Wood and his men made such short work of it. Mr. De Mert's loss is fully covered by insurance.

KENTUCKY IS SAFE IS GENERAL BELIEF

All Railroad Cars Are Thoroughly Fumigated.

Tennessee's "Closed Door" Resulting in Many Southern People Coming to Kentucky.

THE RAILROADS CO-OPERATING

Refusal of the Tennessee state board of health to allow passengers from New Orleans and the districts infected with yellow fever to stop in that state will have no effect on the traffic to Kentucky, and may only serve to bring more refugees to this state than would have come had the Tennessee board not taken the action decided upon Saturday. Passengers from the affected districts will not be allowed to alight from trains passing through Tennessee unless they can produce a health certificate showing that they have been away from the tainted district six days, but the railroads will be allowed to carry the refugees through the state.

This requirement will force the railroads to run their trains straight through the state only stopping for local and way passengers. For the same reason, many refugees who would doubtless have stopped in Tennessee, or as near home as possible, will come to Kentucky, or go even further north. Despite this fact, railroad officials do not expect any great migration of New Orleans people to Kentucky, and should the travel be heavy, they do not believe the advent of the passengers will bring the disease to the state. In this they are supported by members of the state board of health, who believe they have the situation well in hand and who are being assisted by the railway officials.

The Louisville and Nashville, the Illinois Central and the Southern railway are the only Louisville lines which are affected by the regulations of the Tennessee state board of health, and these lines have already done all in their power to assist the Kentucky state board of health.

All railroad cars now being used in Kentucky are thoroughly disinfected after each trip under the regulations recently put in force by the state board of health. This disinfection and fumigation is being made more effectual at present by additional fumigation of all cars leaving Southern points and further fumigation en route.

A. H. Egan, superintendent of the Louisville division of the Illinois Central railroad, said that his company was in perfect accord with the state board of health and had proffered all possible assistance. He said that the action of the Tennessee authorities would probably affect the running time of trains from New Orleans to that territory but would have nothing to do with the trains in and out of Louisville.

JULY IN PADUCAH WAS GOOD MONTH

Police Made Nearly 200 Arrests During Month.

Building Shows Quite an Increase. About $50,000 Worth of Permits Being Issued.

REPORTS FROM DEPARTMENTS

City Engineer L. A. Washington issued during the month of July over 75 building permits for structures ranging in cost from $50 and $75 to several thousand. The total amount of building authorized by permits during the month was nearly $50,000. Among the largest amounts are: Flats for F. W. The following data for the month of August, covering a period of 33 years in Kentucky, have been compiled from the weather bureau records at Louisville. They are issued to show the conditions that have prevailed, during the month in question, for the above period of years, but must not be construed as a forecast of the weather conditions for this August.

The freight department reports a good business. It is stated that no engines are out of service because of dull business.

The Carnegie library reports a busy month during July. In the juvenile department a slight increase is noticeable because of the vacation the children are enjoying. The library is constantly receiving donations in the way of new books and interest in it is never on the wane.

Riverside hospital's first report makes a good showing. During the month of July, since the institution was placed in service, a total of 12 patients, three private, were admitted. At the close of the month seven patients were registered in.

The railroad hospital admitted a great number of patients to the hospital during July. The report shows twenty-one patients in at the beginning of July, with 102 admitted. At the close there were 32 patients enrolled.

The report of Chief Woods, of the fire department, shows ten runs during August, there being no fires of consequence. The Wahl laundry fire was about the most destructive of the month. The total loss from fire during the month was $1900.

Electrical Inspector Gilsdorf has prepared his monthly report to be presented to the legislative boards. He has inspected fewer buildings this month than during the first month, because he had to inspect work ordered changed last month. He finds the general inclination of the property owners to be favorable to his orders.

City Clerk Henry Bailey has issued during the month of July a total of thirty burial permits, 19 white and 11 colored. This shows with few exceptions the number of deaths in Paducah during the month.

Stamp Deputy L. L. Bebout reports an ordinary month for July. He issued stamps for 541 barrels of whisky and collected a total of $7,003.19.

The marriage licenses issued during the month of July were light compared with the previous month. The total number issued amounts to but 23, 15 white, and 8 colored.

The Christian Endeavor Society met last night in their regular monthly session at the Cumberland Presbyterian church with twelve members present. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

"A shipment of 7,000,000 bushels of coal will be made today and another rich harvest is marked up to the benefit of river men who are enjoying the most prosperous summer ever recorded in the shipping industry of Pittsburg. The rise due this morning gives every indication of reaching at least twelve feet, furnishing a stage of water on which the heaviest craft can be floated. Lying in the harbor are hundreds of coalboats of the heavy variety, as well as the big barges loaded with cotton ties and wire nails. The people of the Ohio Valley will witness the unusual sight of seeing heavy shipments moving down the river in August. The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke company will ship about 5,000,000 bushels of coal, the Jutte company will ship 1,500,000 bushels the United Coal company 350,000 bushels and small operators will also ship a few pieces.

Captain Gordon C. Greene, president of the Cincinnati, Pittsburg and Charleston Packet company, has leased for a term of twenty-five years wharf frontage at Gallipolis, O., and will as soon as practicable put in a new wharfbat. A freight house will also be erected at the top of the bank, with a freight elevator to the river. Capt. M. F. Noll, of Marietta, and Capt. William E. Roe, well-known river men are interested with Capt. Greene in the enterprise. The object of the move is to secure lower wharfage and to establish cheaper freight rates. At least six steamboats operating between Cincinnati and Pittsburg and Charleston are pledged to support the new arrangement. It is said that Capt. Gallipolis will be the first town to initiate the new project.

The Return of SHERLOCK HOLMES

The Adventure of Charles Augustus Milverton

No. 7 of the Series

"That's his bedroom," Holmes whispered. "This door opens straight into the study. It would suit us best, but it is bolted as well as locked, and we should make too much noise getting in. Come round here. There's a greenhouse which opens into the drawing room."

The place was locked, but Holmes removed a circle of glass and turned the key from the inside. An instant afterward he had closed the door behind us.

and we had become felons in the eyes of the law. The thick, warm air of the conservatory and the thick, choking fragrance of exotic plants took us by the throat. He seized my hand in the darkness and led me swiftly past banks of shrubs which brushed against our faces. Holmes had remarkable powers, carefully cultivated, of seeing in the dark. Still holding my hand in one of his, he opened a door, and I was vaguely conscious that we had entered a large room in which a cigar had been smoked not long before. He felt his way among the furniture, opened another door and closed it behind us. Putting out my hand, I felt several coats hanging from the wall, and I understood that I was in a passage. We passed along it, and Holmes very gently opened a door upon the right hand side. Something rushed out at us, and my heart sprang into my mouth, but I could have laughed when I realized that it was the cat. A fire was burning in this new room, and again the air was heavy with tobacco smoke. Holmes entered on tiptoe, waited for me to follow, and then very gently closed the door. We were in Milverton's study, and a portiere at the farther side showed the entrance to his bedroom.

It was a good fire, and the room was illuminated by it. Near the door I saw the gleam of an electric switch, but it was unnecessary, even if it had been safe, to turn it on. At one side of the fireplace was a heavy curtain which covered the bay window we had seen from outside. On the other side was the door which communicated with the veranda. A desk stood in the center, with a turning chair of shining red leather. Opposite was a large bookcase with a marble bust of Athens on the top. In the corner, between the bookcase and the wall, there stood a tall, green safe, the firelight flashing back from the polished brass knobs upon its face. Holmes stole across and looked at it. Then he crept to the door of the bedroom and stood with slanting head, listening intently. No sound came from within. Meanwhile it had struck me that it would be wise to secure our retreat through the outer door, so I examined it. To my amazement it was neither locked nor bolted. I touched Holmes on the arm, and he turned his masked face in that direction. I saw him start, and he was evidently as surprised as I.

"I don't like it," he whispered, putting his lips to my very ear. "I can't quite make it out. Anyhow we have no time to lose."

"Can I do anything?"

"Yes; stand by the door. If you hear any one come, bolt it on the inside, and we can get away as we came. If they come the other way, we can get through the door if our job is done or hide behind these window curtains if it is not. Do you understand?"

I nodded and stood by the door. My first feeling of fear had passed away, and I thrilled now with a keener zest than I had ever enjoyed when we were the defenders of the law instead of its defiers. The high object of our mission, the consciousness that it was unselfish and chivalrous, the villainous character of our opponent, all added to the sporting interest of the adventure.

Far from feeling guilty, I rejoiced and exulted in our dangers. With a glow of admiration I watched Holmes unrolling his case of instruments and choosing his tool with the calm, scientific accuracy of a surgeon who performs a delicate operation. I knew that the opening of safes was a particular hobby with him, and I understood the joy which it gave him to be confronted with this green and gold monster, the dragon which held in its maw the reputations of many fair ladies. Turning up the cuffs of his dress coat—he had placed his overcoat on a chair—Holmes laid out two drills, a jimmy and several skeleton keys. For about half an hour Holmes worked with concentrated energy, laying down one tool, picking up another, handling each with the strength and delicacy of the trained mechanic. Finally I heard a click, the broad green door swung open, and inside I had a glimpse of a number of paper packets, each tied, sealed and inscribed. Holmes picked one out, but it was hard to read by the flickering fire, and he drew out his little dark lantern, for it was too dangerous with Milverton in the next room to switch on the electric light. Suddenly I saw him halt, listen intently, and then in an instant he had swung the door of the safe to, picked up his coat, stuffed his tools into the pockets and darted behind the window curtain, motioning me to do the same.

It was only when I had joined him there that I heard what had alarmed his quicker senses. There was a noise somewhere within the house. A door slammed in the distance. Then a confused, dull murmur broke itself into the measured thud of heavy footsteps rapidly approaching. They were in the passage outside the room. They paused at the door. The door closed once more, and the pungent reek of a strong cigar was borne to our nostrils. Then the footsteps continued backward and forward, backward and forward, with in a few yards of us. Finally there was a creak from a chair, and the footsteps ceased. Then a key clicked in a lock, and I heard the rustle of papers.

TIE TOWING OVER

LAST LOAD CAME OUT OF CUMBERLAND YESTERDAY.

Boats Now Running in the Tennessee Will Soon Go to the Bank, Also.

Low water in Cumberland and Tennessee rivers has about put a quietus on the tie business. A dozen or more tie boats that in good water make trips as rapidly as they can come and go, have about all gone to bank, and it is said today that the Inverness, which came out of the Cumberland yesterday afternoon with 20,000 ties, would be the last boat to go up this river after ties until there is a rise, which is not expected until about October.

Low water is not only bad on the boats which cannot run, but also makes tie hauling difficult, as the lower the river, the further ties have to be hauled to get them within reach of the boats.

Conditions are not so bad in the Tennessee as the Cumberland, but it is said by tie men that the boats will lay up now as rapidly as they come in.

ROTTEN JOISTS

HAVE TO COME OUT, SAYS THE BUILDING COMMITTEE.

Supt. of Buildings Hoyer Sustained By Members of the School Board.

The building committee of the board of education went up to the McKinley school in Mechanicsburg yesterday afternoon to settle a controversy between Contractor B. T. Davis one of our school trustees, and Supt. of Buildings Fred Hoyer.

The latter in inspecting the work on the building last week, found about 25 joists which he claimed were rotten. He ordered them taken out. Mr. Davis, who is a member of the company that has the contract for building the school, protested to his colleagues at the board meeting Friday, claiming that the timber, if unfit, should have been rejected before trimmed by the carpenters. To settle the trouble the building committee was instructed to go up and see for itself.

Yesterday afternoon it went up and saw for itself and decided in favor of Supt. Hoyer. Contractor Davis will have to take out the joists.

It was also claimed by Contractor Davis that the roof could not be put on the building according to the plans of Supt. Hoyer, but it was yesterday reported that changes had been made which eliminated any trouble that might exist, and there will be no difficulty in placing on the roof.

ALL CLOSE. HEIRS LOCATED.

Kentucky Distillers Have a Good Supply on Hand.

Almost all the Kentucky distillers have closed for the season, and will likely not reopen until December or January, unless the public thirst develops unusual proportions. They are, according to authoritative figures given, more bonded goods in the warehouses, both in this state and elsewhere, than in many years. On April 30 of this year the following amounts of whiskey were in bond: Kentucky, 118,606, 933 gallons; Pennsylvania, 36,910, 370 gallons of rye whiskey, and Maryland, 20,150,854 gallons of rye. There need be, therefore, no apprehensions regarding the distillers' ability to provide material for all the juleps, punches and other life-savers that may be desired. On the other hand, the assurance is given that the distillery men have no cause for fear, as the population of America is growing so rapidly that they are able to cope with any amount of whiskey that the stills of the country may produce.

Several weeks ago Sheriff Les D. Potter received a letter from a Texas lawyer who wanted to find some one acquainted with John R. Hord, a former resident of McCracken county. The letter was referred to the newspapers and printed in The Sun. Mr. T. J. Atkins noticed the publication and having been an intimate friend of Mr. Hord and knowing him to be dead, took up the correspondence with the lawyer and is prepared now to furnish him with list of the heirs. This is what the lawyer wanted.

Mr. Hord was also well known to Lieut. Frank Harlan and formerly owned and lived in the two story frame house at Second and Clark streets.

INSURANCE MEN
OBJECT TO SHEDS

Many Wooden Structures Back of Building Houses.

Ordinance to be Introduced—Mayor Yeiser Undecided About the Evitts Appeal.

A FEW CITY NOTES OF INTEREST

Insurance men have found another evil they intend to go out after. "Come here" said one prominent insurance man this morning to a reporter. Taking him to the window of his upstairs office, the insurance man pointed out countless wooden sheds in every conceivable place in the rear of buildings, some being large, some small, and some evidently very old, rotten and combustible. "Now there may be very little danger in these sheds catching fire from below" said the insurance man, "but suppose some man throws a cigar stump or cigarette butt on top of them from an upstairs window. It may start a fire anytime, and a fire like that is often not only the most dangerous that can be imagined but is the hardest for the firemen to get at."

"Chief Wood, of the fire department, says that he has no authority to compel property owners to take down the sheds, but might have if the legislative boards passed the proper kind of ordinance. It is understood an ordinance will be passed requiring the sheds removed."

Mayor D. A. Yeiser said today that it had not been decided what will be done in regard to appealing the decision of Circuit Judge W. M. Reed in the Evitts case. An appeal will mean indefinite delay, and the city would be little the better for an appeal except that it would probably have the satisfaction ultimately of settling the question once for all.

According to the decision of Judge Reed a public official may do as he pleases as a private citizen without jeopardizing his official position. So long as he attends to his duties as an official he cannot be removed. This is the sum and substance of the decision, and a number of disinterested lawyers say that unfortunately it seems to be the law.

It is likely that a conference will be held soon between city officials and the attorneys and a course decided upon.

"I was amused at an article in the News-Democrat yesterday," said Mayor Yeiser today, "urging the passage of an ordinance compelling sanitary sewerage connections. We already have such an ordinance, and if I remember correctly every man in the boards voted for it. The ordinance is not in effect, it is true, but one of the greatest drawbacks about sewerage connections is getting someone to make them."

"The plumbers seem to have more work than they can do, and it is the hardest thing in the world to get them to do work for you on account of the rush. I know from experience, and I have heard others complain of it. Many people would connect if they could get the work done promptly."

The board of public works will meet tomorrow afternoon to award a contract for lettering and numbering the streets in the business portion of the city.

The contract is said to have virtually been let, a well known young man having agreed to give the city the lowest price possible to make direct from manufacturers of such numbers and signs, and to take the discount he makes as a dealer, for his profits.

This means that he will deliver to the city the requisite number of signs and numbers and the street department employees will be instructed to put them up. The map is finished showing where the signs go, and all that was wanting was the exact number of signs to be made. The board will also execute a contract with Thomas Bridges Sons for the sidewalk work on streets to be improved.

Other business will be routine such as the auditing of bills in the departments under the board's supervision.

Packing Plant Damaged.
St. Joseph, Mo., Aug. 1.—The beef beds and cattle chutes at Swift and Co's. packing plant were destroyed by fire early this morning, loss fifty thousand dollars.

PARTIAL LIST OF BOOKINGS.

The repairing and repainting of the Kentucky theatre will probably be completed tomorrow and everything will be in readiness for a successful season, which will begin this year about August 25th, if not sooner. Manager Thomas Roberts has booked a fine line of attractions, and expects to get many more than at first expected.

On account of the yellow fever scare many of the best companies will not go to the southern cities. Early dates for southern places will be canceled, and some of the best actors will thus be secured for Paducah, who would otherwise play only in larger cities.

Following is a list of those attractions already booked:

The Herald Square Opera company.

"The County Chairman."

"The Isle of Spice."

"The Paraders."

Charles B. Hanford in a new play "Dare Devil Dorothy."

Mary Emerson.

"The Fortune Teller," with Grace Orr Meyers in the leading role.

Mason and Mason.

Stella Maynew.

"The Isle of Bong Bong."

"The Royal Chef."

"Buster Brown."

"Way Down East."

Al G. Fields' Minstrels.

Grace Cochran in "Pretty Peggy."

"Quincy Adams Sawyer."

Wegenhall & Kemper's production of Clyde Fitch's celebrated play "The Woman in the Case."

"San Toy."

Roselle Knott in "When Knight-hood Was in Flower."

Sousa's Band.

"Florodora."

"My Wife's Family."

Adelaide Thurston in "The Triumph of Betty."

The Howard-Dorset Company.

Margaret Neville Company.

"Babes in Toyland."

"The Clansman."

Harry Beresford.

W. B. Patton.

Tim Murphy.

Madame Schumann-Heink.

George Sidney.

"The Hoosier Girl."

Nat M. Willis.

"On the Bridge at Midnight."

Black Patti's Troubadours.

The effect of the yellow fever scare on the show business may not be apparent for some time, as many of the companies will wait awhile before deciding to cancel. It is practically certain that comparatively few companies will be able to go far south for some time to come, however, for the authorities themselves do not expect to stamp out the disease before frost, and frost comes late in the south. For this reason the route of many companies will have to be greatly modified, and a number of the stars will invade the smaller cities.

Clyde Fitch is expected to arrive from his European sojourn today and some details regarding Viola Allen's play for next season will now, very likely, be forthcoming. Mr. Fitch has kept the name a secret, also details regarding story and where it is laid. This is a Fitchian habit. All that is known regarding the play is that, unlike late products from Fitch's pen it is a costume piece of the Eighteenth century.

The Quaker City Quartet, which has proven an attractive feature for a number of years with the Al G. Field Greater Minstrels has been re-engaged for this season and will be heard in a new repertoire of songs Reese Prosser, the noted Welsh tenor, commonly called "The Jean De Reske of the minstrel stage," will again be featured with the Field aggregation and all the vocal features will be under the direction of Paul LaLonde.
